

Ulduz Hashimova, MD., Ph.D (Anthropology), Doctor of Science (Genetics), is Professor of Physiology, Director of the Institute of Physiology of the Azerbaijan National Academy of Sciences, co-founder and Head of Azerbaijan Society of Gerontologists, Head of Azerbaijan Society of Physiologists, Vice-president of the Euroasian Association of Gerontology, Geriatrics and Anti-Ageing Medicine, and an honorary member of Georgian Ivane Beritashvili Society of Physiologists. She is a member of Azerbaijan National "Bioethics, Science, and Technological Ethics" Committee under UNESCO, a holder of Diploma and Medal of Azerbaijan "BILIK" (Knowledge) Society, a Fellow of European-Mediterranean Academy of Arts and Sciences, and a member of Special Science Communication (SHARE) Committee of the Association of Academies and Societies of Sciences in Asia (AASSA). Dr. Hashimova's field of expertise includes biology of ageing, with especial focus on the genetic and physiological mechanisms determining the phenomenon of population longevity.